BMF Cyber & GDPR Audit Plus

What are the new General Data Protection Regulations coming into force in May 2018?

GDPR is the name attributed to the new data protection laws which will be fully implemented by May 2018. GDPR will change the way in which businesses obtain, store, use and delete data and will make designated internal data controllers, board members and directors more accountable for the existing business processes around data protection.

The Information Commissioners Office (ICO) which is the government body behind GDPR have stipulated that companies will be penalised and will have to pay a penalty of up to 4% of global turnover.

What does the free Cyber Risk Assessment include?

As a partner of the Builders Merchant Federation (BMF), RDS will provide all BMF members with a free Cyber Risk Assessment where a series of questions will be completed by the business and RDS will then provide some feedback in regards to next steps. We will also provide more information on the policies and processes the business needs to have to be compliant and avoid any fines following May 2018.

Testimonial

"Turnbull & Co are delighted to have concluded our Cyber/GDPR audit to move towards full legal compliance. RDS Cyber Specialists worked closely with us throughout this process, leading our teams to review both our technical and business processes. Their approach was both business friendly and understandable at all times, supplying information on the change of regulations and how these will affect the Builders Merchant industry. We now have a detailed report from RDS Global which summarises all of the work, the gap analysis, and the recommendations, in one succinct document. Moving forwards, RDS Global have been retained to help us to implement the recommendations and we are highly confident of our legal compliance in time for the May 2018 deadline."
